

"Surround yourself with people who can see you "

and not just want you as their decoration

being surrounded by people who don't see you is the real loneliness
they drain you

DIFF

a music clip

- protagonist walking through a dark space
- light bouncing, flashes
- as the walk continues we see more shapes/people - they all have a phone in their hand - taking selfies
- the lights of the phones are the only source of light in this realm.
- sometimes they grab our protagonist and want to make pics
- at the end of the "walk" is a person with a mirror
- the protagonist reaches the mirror, sees herself
- puts the mirror down
- end

trust your own darkness

when you see yourself, others will see you too.
